At that time, the hub of art for this particular style was in New York City. It is closely associated with the Abstract, Modern and Expressionist art styles. Colorfield paintings have several elements. They often include large areas of solid color. These are usually placed adjacent to or juxtaposed against each other. Overall, the emphasis here is in the process of the work placing less importance in the detail of brushstroke. In this way, this art style tends towards abstraction or figuration. In addition, the emphasis here is in the strong colors and how they reflect and interact with each other. Why is that? In my opinion, these emphasis evokes more of an impression of a feeling rather than a calculated thought aimed at analysis, in this case, of a work of art. In my experience, what these paintings are supposed to do is more related to emotions and how our eye, mind, experiences and attitudes respond...
