In the minds of both disciples and antagonists, the Positive Philosophy means the philosophy of M. Comte; and to be imbued with the ideas of the Positive Philosophy means to be imbued with the ideas of M. Comte--to have received these ideas from M. Comte. After what has been said above, I need scarcely repeat that the conception thus inadvertently suggested, is a wrong one. M. Comtes brief enunciations of these general truths, gave me no clearer apprehensions of them than I had before. Such clarifications of ideas on these ultimate questions, as I can trace to any particular teacher, I owe to Sir William Hamilton From the principles which M. jComte held in common with many preceding and contemporary thinkers, let us pass now to the principles that are distinctive of his system. Just as entirely as I agree with...
